'Mong Southern fields a song was sung With measured trend and slow, Whose music echoes; yet among Her pince, altho' the knell has rung, And the singer been, laid low.

Ris shillful hand swept o'er the lyre ; There rose sweet melodies ; Those melodies that would inspire With love, the lowest serf, rose higher And wafted o'er the seas.

In golden climes those tones will ring-Touce of a surrowed soul : The birds will choose his notes to sing O'er his ellent tomb an offering Of love, as cycles roll.

His heart's devotion ever gave His music such sweet airs, He other soug could ever have, Or mean be so full of love As his sad misereres.

The sadness of his dreams has won For him elernal fame : The South ne'er knew a sweeter tone, Grawester singer than this one,dur of immortal names!

The sweet voluptuous strains would swell From lowly earth Heav'n : And yet were soaring higher, till A single decord broke the spell— Life's golden chains ever riv'n !

The woodbine yet a fragrance breather The forest fragrance rare ; But no longer 'mid its drooping leaves, The Poet's song will swell to please A languid, Southern air.

The hand is cold : the voice is still : We hear no more his tread : But the scho of his song will fill Our hearts with sweetest pleasure still, Thou' he be dead-yes, dead !. -() H A CONBARD.

In one breath he announces that the South is and always has been loyal to the Union, and in the next he defends their actio.. in seceding from the Union. He declares the dis-franchisement of the blacks in the South to have been a just and righteous act, tions or Syphilitie Poisoning. He declares that the South honors Jefferson Davis, and adds (this was in Cincinnati): "Why, my countrymen, if we should turn our backs upon that man, refusing him our sympathy, we would merit the contempt and scorn of every brave man in this audience and over the whole country." This is the man whom the D-mocrate of this State have imported just on the eve of an election to instruct the people of Ohio how to vote. While he denies this, he is confuted by his own words—the words with which he closed his speech in Cincinnati-"O, my friends, what are you going to do next November? Whether you vote for one man or the other (I don't intend to mention any names here) let me beg of you, rise in your might, and by the inexorable flat of a mighty public opinion frown down forever the spirit I have been discussing to-night.' CIITIZENS OF OHO

Within a Radius of 30 Miles of Hillsboro!

I WISH to call your attention to the fact that you can save fully 15 per cent.—perhaps more—by buying your CLOTHING, HATS, BOOTS, SHOES, &c., from me. If such is the the case, would it not be to your interest, as well as mine, to come to Hillsboro for your outfit? Many of you will probably say to yourselves, This is only an advertisement! I admit it; but, nevertheless, it contains nothing but the simple truth. Would you ask me why I can sell so much cheaper than the dealer in your own town, I will tell you:

BECAUSE—I buy in much larger quantities than small dealers can, and buying in large quantities I get the lowest quotations, the benefit of which I divide with my customers.

A man buying wheat by the car-load buys it lower per bushel than he who buys only a single bushel.

BECAUSE—All my purchases being made for cash, I get the benefit of a cash discount of from five to ten per cent. This discount alone foots up in my business from $2.000 to $3,000 a year. This is an item country dealers cannot get; they do not do business enough to warrant it.

$3,000 a year. This is an item country dealers cannot get; they do not do business enough to warrant it.

BECAUSE—I visit the markets five or six times a year, and, being right there, many opportunities are offered to buy large lots at a sacrifice. These opportunities are never offered to country dealers, because they have no facilities in small towns to sell large stocks. ANOTHER REASON—Is, the stock I show you is never and fresher in a store like mine than you can find at home. My goods sell rapidly. I do a pushing, thriving business, and a house like mine is receiving new goods every week, while in a small business they often carry stock for years. You run no chance of getting old, shop-worn goods when you buy from me.

ANOTHER REASON—Who you should fare better by trading with me is, you have a stock and variety from which to choose fully five to ten times as large as you can find at home. This certainly affords you a better chance of getting WELL PLEASED, if nothing more.

SATISFY YOURSELVES of the advantages you receive by buying from me. I can save you money and do myself good at the same time. I ask you to take the trouble to examine my stock and learn my prices. I KNOW IT IS TO YOUR INTEREST TO DO SO.

IN ORDER to do this: If, after buying from me shall be thoroughly satisfied with his purchase, I offer to do this: If, after buying your goods and inspecting them at home, you have any cause to feel disastisfied with your bargain. I will either exchange your goods or refund your money within ten days after the purchase. I want to get your trade, and am assured that if you try me once you will come again.
